Rather than getting some other perspective, the perspective I'm hungry for us to have is the perspective of another member of the Trinity talking about another member of the Trinity. He now finds that he is powerless, and he dies in the hand of God like clay in the hand of the potter, and is made to cry out, "O Lord, my God, unless thou save me, I am damned to all eternity; for I cannot lift a finger in this matter until thou first of all givest me strength.
